Dear Families,

Next week, we will read our next silly story, Julius. We will work on the comprehension skill of monitor and clarify. When reading at home, ask your student to tell you about what they have read. Go back and reread to discuss details of the story.

In writing, we will work on adding details that show a picture in your reader's mind.

In math, we will continue our first Topic: Understanding Addition and Subtraction. Students are working on tricks to recall addition facts.

Have a great weekend!
